

THE WEATHER
Partly cloudy and unsettled tonight and Tuesday; moderate temperature; gentle winds, mostly northeast.
TEMPERATURE AT EACH HOUR
67 70 72 74 76 77 78

Evening Bulletin

NIGHT EXTRA
PRICE TWO CENTS

VOL. VIII.—NO. 238
Entered as Second-Class Matter at the Postoffice at Philadelphia, Pa.
Under the Act of October 3, 1917.
PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, JUNE 19, 1922
Published Daily Except Sunday. Subscription Price $5 a Year by Mail.
Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company

20 ARE INJURED
AS CARS CRASH
AT 9TH AND ARCH
Panio - Stricken Passengers
Fight Way to Street as Women Scream
BLEEDING VICTIMS ARE RUSHED TO HOSPITALS
Shopkeepers in Neighborhood
Speed to Scene and
Give First Aid
TROLLEYS ARE DEMOLISHED
Arch Street Car Motorman Runs
to Rear and Escapes
Injuries

Twenty-eight persons were injured seriously enough to be taken to hospitals and two trolley cars were smashed in a collision at Ninth and Arch streets at 6:45 o'clock this morning. Both cars were filled with persons on their way to work.

The Injured
William Turck, twenty-six years old, 2433 South Main street, cuts of the face; Jefferson Hospital.
Robert L. Tucker, a Negro, fifty-one years old, 2037 Master street, cuts of the arm; Jefferson Hospital.
Charles Blum, seventy-one years old, 2028 West Erie avenue, cuts; Jefferson Hospital.
Preston Rose, thirty-one years old, Negro, 2410 Master street, bruises and cuts; Jefferson Hospital.
William Packed, twenty-two years old, Negro, 2111 South Kimball street, cuts and bruises; Jefferson Hospital.
Pearle Young, thirty years old, 1832 Waverly street, bruises and cuts; Jefferson Hospital.
Maurice Goldstein, fifty years old, 2640 South Milba street, cuts; Jefferson Hospital.
Daisy Jackson, Negro, thirty-eight years old, 710 South Clifton street, cuts; Jefferson Hospital.
Francis Lubman, fifteen years old, 629 Pierce street, cuts and bruises; Jefferson Hospital.
Amedeo Pasquano, 706 South Ninth street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Benjamin Girlando, 933 Hoffman street, cuts; Hahnemann Hospital.
Paul Cardullo, 916 League street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Joseph Laprocca, 1834 South Ninth street, cuts; Hahnemann Hospital.
Natale Lamerto, 911 Mountain street, cuts; Hahnemann Hospital.
Salvatore Salamone, 1209 Kimball street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Eugene Protting, thirty-one, 816 Fitzwater street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Sikestro Rosario, 911 Mountain street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Tony Salvucci, 1809 South Ninth street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Daniel Noble, 1433 South Fiftieth street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
David Chibwaski, 2411 Beulah street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Michael Abruzzese, 742 Clymer street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Adestro Matanza, 1212 South Thirtieth street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Edward M. Opped, 144 North Twentieth street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Albert Haugh, 1832 Arch street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Louis Ginge, 1529 Beulah street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Samuel Wilson, 1016 South Eleventh street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Harry Colston, 2407 North Twenty-fourth street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
Joseph McEntire, 837 South street, cuts and bruises; Hahnemann Hospital.
An east-bound Front and Arch streets car on Arch street hit a north-bound Olney avenue car at the Ninth street intersection, throwing the Olney car into the air and plowing a hole halfway through it at the conductor's booth.

For a moment after the collision there was silence, then came screams and cries and the men and women tightly packed in both cars, fought to get out. In a few moments the passengers reached the street through broken windows and the pavement became littered with hats, gloves and articles of clothing.

Shopkeepers Give Aid
Shopkeepers in the neighborhood gave first aid. Hysterical women and girls, disheveled and bleeding from cuts received from broken glass, were rushed up and down the street screaming. Others too badly hurt to move hurried to their hands, moaning, or collapsed on the pavement. The conductors did what they could to calm the injured, bound up wounds with improvised bandages and called ambulances.

From every central police station came patrols, and ambulances from the city.

SHOWERS PROMISED
Weather to Be Unsettled First of Week
Unsettled and showery weather for the first half of the week is the best that the weather man has to offer. Cool breezes from the northwest probably will disperse the heavy mists that have been hanging over the city for several days. A drop in temperature last evening.

Death Leap Route

Marion made his leap at 9:30 o'clock from the complaint bureau at Detective Headquarters, Room 531. He landed on a sloping roof over the City Hall power house, in an arched way over the court yard.

He died in Jefferson Hospital, two hours later, of a broken arm, broken back and fractured skull.

Even before the leap from the window the victim's actions were those of a demented person.

Belahaw went to an automobile factory at Broad street and Lehigh avenue, where the man worked, and talked with the detective soon concluded that he was dealing with a madman and returned to City Hall.

Today when Belahaw was at rollcall, Marlon asked to see him. Detective Cruesey, Belahaw's clerk, talked to Marlon taking him over to a corner. Suddenly the man seemed to lose his wits completely.

Belahaw went to an automobile factory at Broad street and Lehigh avenue, where the man worked, and talked with the detective soon concluded that he was dealing with a madman and returned to City Hall.

Today when Belahaw was at rollcall, Marlon asked to see him. Detective Cruesey, Belahaw's clerk, talked to Marlon taking him over to a corner.

Belahaw went to an automobile factory at Broad street and Lehigh avenue, where the man worked, and talked with the detective soon concluded that he was dealing with a madman and returned to City Hall.

LEAPS TO DEATH AT CITY HALL

Demented Man Dives Through Window at Detective Bureau, Falls Four Stories
ALIVE WHEN PICKED UP, BUT DIES IN HOSPITAL

Became Violent After Reporting "Murder"—Clerks in Panic After Accident

Marion made his leap at 9:30 o'clock from the complaint bureau at Detective Headquarters, Room 531.

Even before the leap from the window the victim's actions were those of a demented person.

Belahaw went to an automobile factory at Broad street and Lehigh avenue, where the man worked, and talked with the detective soon concluded that he was dealing with a madman and returned to City Hall.

Today when Belahaw was at rollcall, Marlon asked to see him. Detective Cruesey, Belahaw's clerk, talked to Marlon taking him over to a corner.

Belahaw went to an automobile factory at Broad street and Lehigh avenue, where the man worked, and talked with the detective soon concluded that he was dealing with a madman and returned to City Hall.

Belahaw went to an automobile factory at Broad street and Lehigh avenue, where the man worked, and talked with the detective soon concluded that he was dealing with a madman and returned to City Hall.

VOTE FOR TARIFF TO PRECEDE BONUS

G. O. P. Senators Favor Action on Both Before Recess
Washington, June 19.—(By A. P.)—Senate Republicans in conference today voted 30 to 9 against laying aside the Tariff Bill to consider the soldiers' bonus. A resolution favoring final disposition of both the Tariff Bill and the bonus measure at this session and before any recess then was adopted 27 to 11.

A number of Republican Senators, including Johnson and Pettibone, who favor speedy action on the bonus, absented themselves from the conference.

A horse and scores of chickens were freed from a blazing barn on the estate of Owen Wister, the novelist, Old York road and Olney avenue, early today.

A slight wind carried sparks toward the Wister home, but the residence was not considered in danger.

Five men in a touring car, believed to be bandits, fired at Albert Chipman, watchman at the Northeast Garage, Waling and Mulberry streets, early today.

Clump, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, heard some one prying loose the cover of the gasolene supply pump in front of the garage.

Clump, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, heard some one prying loose the cover of the gasolene supply pump in front of the garage.

Clump, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, heard some one prying loose the cover of the gasolene supply pump in front of the garage.

Clump, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, heard some one prying loose the cover of the gasolene supply pump in front of the garage.

Clump, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, heard some one prying loose the cover of the gasolene supply pump in front of the garage.

Clump, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, heard some one prying loose the cover of the gasolene supply pump in front of the garage.

Clump, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, heard some one prying loose the cover of the gasolene supply pump in front of the garage.

Clump, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, heard some one prying loose the cover of the gasolene supply pump in front of the garage.

SAYS HE ROBBERED BANK TO AID KIN

Coatesville Teller Confesses $227,000 Went Into Brothers' Schemes

PHILA. MAN IS INVOLVED IN FAILURE OF CONCERN

Raymond C. Newlin Admits Huge Thefts, Police Assert. More Arrests Due

Lured on by glowing promises from his brother, a promoter of the concern, Newlin is said to have poured nearly $227,000 in stolen funds into a credit insurance company which later collapsed.

Newlin is now in the West Chester jail awaiting trial on charges of embezzlement from the National Bank of Coatesville, where he was receiving teller.

The youthful bank employe made a confession soon after his arrest on May 20. A supplementary confession just made to Department of Justice agents involves George Newlin, his brother, now in New York.

Two other men, one formerly a broker in this city, are said to be involved through the confession. One of the men is believed to be in California.

The credit insurance company was an advertising literature into many sections of the country. Some of it was seen by William Penn Worth, president of the National Bank of Coatesville.

When Mr. Worth noted his receiving teller's name in the literature of the company he demanded an explanation from Newlin. The receiving teller said his name was included in the list of directors simply to add prestige to the company.

He said he was not closely affiliated with the concern, and that he had not invested in it.

The Newlin resign immediately as a director and that he recall all the advertising literature bearing his name. Newlin agreed and from then on it was believed he had no dealings with the company.

But, according to the latest confession attributed to him, Newlin was led to believe that the company was a success and poured the bank money into it.

Lump sums as high as $20,000 were sent to this brother in New York. In a letter of prospecting, the company soon after the bank failure, Newlin went to the wall. Federal agents are investigating reports that the company promoters were speculating heavily in New York.

Indict Harvey's Son-in-Law for Shipping Guns to Irish

Col. Marcellus H. Thompson and Seven Others Accused of Conspiracy—495 Machine Guns on Vessel at Hoboken

By the Associated Press
Trenton, June 19.—Colonel Marcellus H. Thompson, vice president and active head of the Auto Ordnance Company, of New York, has been indicted by the Federal Grand Jury here on a charge of conspiracy to ship arms to Ireland in violation of the neutrality laws.

The indictments also have returned against the Auto Ordnance Company and seven other individuals on the same charge as the result of the seizure at Hoboken last June of the Cosmopolitan Lines freighter East Star, in the coal bunkers of which were found 495 machine guns. The guns were alleged to have been destined for use by the Sinn Fein in Ireland.

The other individuals indicted are: Frank Williams, alias Lawrence de Lacy, alias Lawrence Pierce, who is alleged to have plotted the shipment of guns, and his brother, Fred Williams, alias Edward de Lacy, who is alleged to have been implicated in the purchase of the guns. Both are now believed to be in Ireland.

Salesman Also Indicted
George Gordon Burke, a salesman of Washington, who is alleged to have placed an order for the guns with the Auto Ordnance Company.

Frank B. Ochsener, of New York and Washington, who is accused of placing the first order for some of the guns with the Auto Ordnance Company.

John Cuhane, a truckman of New York, who is alleged to have carried the guns from the American Railway Express Company in New York to his storehouse in the Bronx for Frank Williams.

Mr. Brophy, whose first name is unknown to the Federal authorities, who is alleged to have carted the shipment from Cuhane's storehouse to the East Side.

The guns were manufactured by the Colt Patent Arms Company, of Hartford, Conn., and are alleged to have been sold by the Auto Ordnance Company. Their inventor is said to be General John B. Thompson, father of Colonel Thompson.

Mystery Over Ownership
There was considerable mystery about the guns after their seizure and an investigation was started by the United States Shipping Board and the Department of Justice. Frank Williams claimed ownership of the guns after the seizure. He declared he had purchased 495 machine guns through the Auto Ordnance Company and stored them in a warehouse. He said they had been stolen from the warehouse and asserted he did not know how they got on the ship.

Rorke later was arrested and was released on $3000 bail. He is said to have admitted that he sold the guns to a group of strange men.

The indictments were returned by the January Federal Grand Jury, which concluded its work in April. Information concerning the indictments was withheld because of inability to reach some of those indicted.

The technical indictment against the men as a body charged them with "conspiracy to set on foot and provide the means for military enterprise to be carried on against the territory of a foreign prince with whom the United States was at peace."

TO EXTEND U. S. COASTWISE LAW TO PHILIPPINES

Expect Harding to Give American Ships Monopoly of Trade With Manila

PROCLAMATION WOULD AID OUR MERCHANT MARINE

Step Also Would Tend to Make Washington's Hold on Islands Permanent

PROVIDED BY JONES ACT

Lasker Paves Way by Reporting That Adequate Service Exists

By CLINTON W. GILBERT
Staff Correspondent Evening Public Ledger
Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company

Washington, June 19.—The President is expected, within the next few days, to proclaim the extension of the United States coastwise shipping laws to the Philippine Islands. He and Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board, have had their minds made up to do this for some time. But the President awaited the visit here of the Filipino Nationalists, which took place last week, before acting.

As a matter of courtesy he gave the Filipinos their opportunity to present their case against the extension before issuing his proclamation.

The effect of this policy is to create a monopoly for American shipping and the carrying trade between this country and the Philippines. Under the law no foreign ship can operate between New York and San Francisco. The ports of the Philippines will be opened by proclamation to all intents and purposes a part of the coast line of the United States.

Foreign Reprisals Expected
It is expected that this proclamation will bring reprisals on the part of British and Japanese, who now do much business between the United States and the Philippines. Big Japanese ships make Manila a port of call between San Francisco and Seattle and the Orient and so do the Canadian-Pacific Railroad ships.

But the Administration is prepared for reprisals. It feels that the American merchant marine cannot be established on the seas without arousing the antagonism of those who are already masters of the sea trade.

The object of extending the coastwise monopoly to the Philippines is to create an opportunity for American ships. It will constitute an effective form of subsidy. American shipping will have to contend with competition in this trade. Not only will larger cargoes be available, but higher rates can be charged.

Provided for in Jones Act
The extension of the coastwise laws was provided for in the Jones Shipping Act of 1920, which declared that after February 1, 1922, no foreign ship could extend "to island territories and possessions of the United States." Under this law all ships of foreign registry are excluded from trade between American ports.

LAST-MINUTE NEWS

KEPHART TESTIFIES IN TREASURY PROBE

HARRISBURG, June 19.—Former State Treasurer Kephart answered questions concerning the number of State depositories during his term and the manner in which State funds were assigned for deposit today at the public sitting of the Treasury audit today. William A. Glasgow, Jr., the former official's counsel, sparred with former Justice E. J. Fox, special Deputy Attorney General, over the propriety of examining Mr. Kephart before all sections of the audit were presented.

MOTHER SAVES SON FROM SUICIDE FROM GAS
George Schaefer, twenty-eight, 2007 East Sterner street, tried to commit suicide by gas this afternoon but was discovered by his mother and his life saved. He was taken to the Episcopal Hospital, where physicians soon revived him. The police say he had been separated from his wife for two months and was despondent.

FRANCE WILL ENTER PARLEY WITH SOVIET
Will Quit Hague, However, if Political Questions Are Introduced
Paris, June 19.—(By A. P.)—France will take part in the conference at The Hague with the Russian delegates, but will not enter into a formal treaty, announced today. If political questions are introduced, however, the French delegates will promptly withdraw.

YOUNG WIFE DENIES WOOING HUSBAND
Mrs. Thelma Foster Sues Sister of W. C. McAdoo for Alienating Spouse's Affections

New York, June 19.—"It is a cruel falsehood to say that I proposed marriage to my husband," Mrs. Thelma Foster, wife of William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, today denied the charge that she had proposed marriage to her husband in the year and a half since the marriage and met Mrs. Foster, if she heard of her husband's infidelity, on Saturday afternoon.

The deposition was filed as an answer to a petition by Mrs. Foster for alimony upon her husband's desertion for separation. She also served a summons on Mrs. Nona McAdoo Foster in a suit for $50,000 for alleged alienation of her husband's affections.

Mrs. Thelma Foster is young and beautiful. Mrs. Nona McAdoo Foster is middle-aged, yet the two appear to have become rivals for the affection of the handsome young Italian, who at twenty-seven, after an acquaintance of five years was adopted by the elder woman.

Wedding Was Kept Secret
According to the junior Mrs. Foster, her husband asked that the marriage be kept secret because news of an engagement caused Mrs. Nona Foster's death, as she was a sufferer from heart disease. Later, says the young wife, he admitted to her that Mrs. Foster, if she heard of his marriage, would be so torn by jealousy that his material prospects would be ruined, as he was wholly dependent upon her for his support.

The young bridegroom is quoted as saying he obtained the marriage license on a day from his bride. Of this, the wife said yesterday.

It was known Mr. Foster some time before a romance developed. At the beginning of this romance he was engaged to marry Lieutenant William Kenyon Loyd, Mrs. Foster asked me to break this engagement and become engaged to him.

"When I consented, he obtained an antique ring from his mother's safe deposit vault, brought it to me, and after asking my mother if he would be a suitable son-in-law, asked me for alimony upon her death as an engagement ring. He said a diamond solitaire would create suspicion and he would not wear it."

RUSSIA WANTS U. S. TRADE
Resumption of Relations Not Far Off, Krassin Believes
Moscow, June 19.—(By A. P.)—Leonid Krassin, addressing a conference of the Russian Foreign Trade Department, of which he is the head, voiced the belief that resumption of official relations between Russia and America was not far off.

Coincidentally, the newspaper Pravda advocates dealing with America to build up the Russian oil industry. "Serious business relationships for us are possible now only with America," says the Pravda. "We can give her oil, of which she has great need, and receive from her technical equipment for industry and agriculture. This must be done, avoiding the commissions of the bankrupt European bourgeoisie."

DO YOU NEED A BABY CARRIAGE, OR A stove or anything else for the house? Perhaps it is in the For Sale column today on page 27.—Adv.

Continued on Page Nine, Column Eight

Continued on Page Nine, Column Three

Continued on Page Nine, Column Two

Continued on Page Nine, Column One

Continued on Page Nine, Column Four

Continued on Page Nine, Column Five

Continued on Page Nine, Column Six

Continued on Page Nine, Column Seven

Continued on Page Nine, Column Eight